Art Unit: 1724

In view of Applicant's amendment filed September 19, 2005, restriction to one of the following inventions is now required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9 and 11-25, drawn to an oil containment system, classified in class 210, subclass 282.
- II. Claims 26-31, drawn to a method for constructing an oil containment system, classified in class 210, subclass 232.

Newly submitted claim 32 has not been included in either of the above noted groups because it is not clear whether this new claim is intended to be an apparatus claim or a method claim. Claim 32 recites "method" in its preamble, but depends from an apparatus claim (i.e. claim 1). Once Applicant corrects this informality, claim 32 will be included with its appropriate group.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the oil containment system of Group I could be made by another process, different from that of Group II. For example, this system could be made by a process which does not include a step of positioning the system in a containment basin beneath and around an oil containing vessel (see line 3 of claim 26), as evidenced by claims 1-9, 11-16 and 18-25.

Art Unit: 1724

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

In addition to the above restriction requirement, an election of species is also required.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct oil containment system configuration species of the claimed invention:

- (1) the configuration described in ¶ 0009 of the specification;
- (2) the configuration described in ¶ 0010 of the specification;
- (3) the configuration described in ¶ 0011 of the specification; and
- (4) the configuration described in ¶ 0012 of the specification.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed oil containment system configuration species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims appear to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that are elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, Applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, Applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should Applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, Applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
